INSTRUCTIONS TO BOY SCOUTS FOR COLLECTING SCRAP AND PAPER

The following instructions to Boy Scouts of the Valley Forge Council, which includes Delaware and Montgomery Counties, regarding the collection of scrap and paper were issued this week by Rex I. Gary, Scout executive.

The United States Government through its OPM Chief, Mr. William S. Knudsen has made the request that—

1. All Troops intesify their Waste Paper Collection efforts.
   a. In addition to collecting Waste Paper, pick up SCRAP METAL such as steel, iron, copper, brass, lead, zinc, also rubber.
   b. He further urges that this effort continue throughout the duration of the war.

Feeling that all Units will assist in this patriotic service the following outline is presented for all Units to follow:

1. Each Unit has an assigned area for the duration of war. If not see your Neighborhood Commissioner and get one.
2. Uniformed Scouts should notify each household, preferably by a printed notice, of the facts that Scouts (Cubs also) will call at stated intervals (tell when you will call).
3. Keep to your promised schedule of calls.
4. Each Patrol or Den is assigned a definite section of your Unit area.
5. Establish contact with a dealer.
6. Establish a Unit warehouse if you need one. The dealer calls periodically to pick up the Scrap and Waste Paper. Avoid delay between collecting and having dealer call, as the BIG IDEA is to have a constant and huge flow of material from the households of the Nation to the factories.
7. Keep a careful record of poundage and individual Scout Record. Each Neighborhood Commissioner IS ASKED TO FIND OUT EACH MONTH FROM EACH UNIT how many (a) pounds of paper (b) Pounds of scrap metal and rubber (c) how many boys and report this by Troops on his regular monthly status report.
8. Please forward to the Council office for the War Service Book any clippings or pictures about your work.
9. All Neighborhood Commissioners are asked to strongly emphasize to all their units the NEED for everyone to rally to this project. "Every Unit collect Scrap and Paper."
10. Do not intrude on agencies which are now doing this work. There is plenty to do. In any event you can urge all householders to get rid of their waste materials either through the Scouts, the Salvation Army, etc. Don't take for granted that there is a flow of waste material from your area to the factory—find out and do something about it.
11. Money made from Waste Material should be placed in the Troop Treasury wherever possible. Some means of crediting individuals can be worked out. This is a splendid way for a Scout to earn his way to Camp.

The Committee,
REX I. GARY, Scout Executive.

Asks Government Aid for Defense

Local Funds Not Sufficient Says Burgess Miller

There is a need for either the Federal or State Government to supply additional defense funds if adequate protection is to be assured the people, according to Burgess Richard L. Miller, who recently assumed the duties of Director of Defense in Narberth Borough.

As defense Director Burgess Miller made his first report to Borough Council last Monday night. He stated that expenditures to date had been confined to what has been considered "the minimum essential supplies."

"I understand," he added, "that the problem of supplying funds for the purchase of equipment is being considered by State and Federal authorities, and if the auxiliary services are to be provided with adequate supplies and equipment to meet an actual air raid, much remains to be furnished. At present we have an organized and willing number of volunteer workers, seriously devoting themselves to preparation for the tasks which might arise, but not equipped as they should be to combat a severe emergency."

Defense Director Miller also reported that identification cards and arm bands for the various services are being issued and the workers have been taking courses of instruction under the leadership of the chiefs of services.

Scouts Say Labor Favors Sen. Davis

Both Sides Say They Are 'Sounding Out Sentiment'

From up-state industrial and mining sections, political scouts are bringing back reports that United States Senator James J. Davis will receive overwhelming support from Labor.

At least that was the most that could be learned from inner Republican Party circle discussions at Norristown this week where everyone is watching the public opinion barometer for a gubernatorial winning candidate.

On the surface there were two important conferences:

First, County Commissioner Fred C. Peters attended a meeting at the home of State Senator George B. Scarlett, Chester County chairman. Delaware, Lancaster, Lebanon, Northampton, Northumberland and Schuylkill Counties were represented at the meeting by prominent leaders who are said to have reserved seats on the Senator Davis bandwagon when it starts moving. They called it a meeting "to sound out sentiment."

Meanwhile on Monday, Major General Edward Martin, another Republican governor possibility, extended his personal "sounding out sentiment" tour to Montgomery County. He visited Commissioners Peters and Foster C. Hillegass at the Court House in Norristown.

Officially, however, no governor petitions are being circulated by organization workers nor has any statement of endorsement been given out by the leaders.

Council Elects Three Members of Police Civil Service Board

Narberth Borough Council on Monday night created a Civil Service Commission of three members with power to appoint, promote, reduce, suspend or remove police officers.

Announcement last week of the resignation of Patrolman Thomas W. Merkle to accept a position in the Narberth Post Office made it necessary to create the Commission, which will operate according to provisions of the new Police Civil Service Act which became effective last July.

Members of the Commission as nominated and elected by Council are John S. Ketcham, 407 Haverford av., retired contractor and one of the liquidating trustees of the Narberth Building and Loan; Clarence Kaeber, 215 Chestnut st., former burgess and president of Council; Franklin C. Hutchinson, councilman and chairman of the Council's public safety committee.

Inasmuch as some police supervision comes under Lower Merion Township, there was a question last week whether or not it would be necessary to create the Commission. Henry Frye, the Borough solicitor, ruled that it would be necessary, as salaries of the Borough police officers are paid by Council.

Council announced the approval of the purchase of a new police car by the local rationing board.

Autocar Reports $1,492,816 Profit

A profit of $1,492,816 for the year 1941 is indicated by the annual report and financial statement of the Autocar Company of Ardmore, Pennsylvania, just released to stockholders. The 1941 profit was equivalent to $7.27 per share of the Common stock after paying all dividends and deductions from earnings to which the Preferred stock is entitled. Robert P. Page, Autocar president, pointed out in his annual report to the stockholders that the 1941 profit was derived in a disproportionately large way from the increased volume of commercial sales rather than from Government orders.

In fact, Mr. Page's report makes it clear that it was not until the middle of 1941 that deliveries on Government orders were sufficient to contribute in any significant degree to the financial showing of the year. Mr. Page also admonished his stockholders in reference to possible profits in 1942 as follows:

"As the year 1942 progresses and brings increased Government orders to your Company, it will be well for all stockholders to keep in mind, what I have stressed in this report, that it was not large profits on Government orders that produced the financial showing of 1941. It is impossible to predict at this writing how much, if any, normal business will be permitted to come our way this year; what new taxes will be levied or other emergency demands may be placed on operations like ours. The entire situation is unlike anything in the past and it is, therefore, impossible to use past ratios of profits to volume as a basis for conjecturing what the final results for ownership may be."

Fire Chief Lauds Second Alarmers

162 Attend Meeting in Bala-Cynwyd Hall

One hundred sixty-two firemen, representing 40 fire-fighting organizations attended Saturday night's meeting of the Montgomery County Firemen's Association in Bala-Cynwyd.

They were welcomed by Walter C. Neely, president of the Union Fire Association of Bala-Cynwyd.

Those present at the meeting, which was held in the fire company's hall on Montgomery av., heard Battalion Chief Frank A. Rowe, of the Philadelphia Bureau of Fire, praise the work of the Second Alarmers Association of Montgomery County.

Tribute was paid to the Association's former vice-president, Harry N. Bickel, Norristown, who died the previous Sunday.

Chief W. C. Hornung, of the Bala-Cynwyd company, was among those introduced.

Wilson H. Green, chief fire marshal, reported 195 fires during February with an estimated loss of $128,414.76.

Council referred the matter to the highway committee of which Walter A. Fox is chairman for consideration.

MISS EDITH W. UNRUH

Report Serious Need of Nurses

Miss Unruh Urges Graduate Nurses to Volunteer

Narberth's public health nurse, Edith W. Unruh, chairman of the Public Relations Committee of District No. 1, Pennsylvania State Nurses Association, has issued a call for graduate nurses to volunteer for service.

Fifty thousand first reserve nurses are needed in the army training camps, the Navy Corps, and other military branches of service. There is no ceiling on the number of Red Cross second reserve nurses being called. These second reserve units are organized for home defense and are being sent to United States possessions to aid in civilian defense programs.

The nurse has an opportunity to play an active role in this present critical situation, Miss Unruh points out; not only is she being asked to volunteer her services on a military basis but she must fill the gaps in the community hospital and public health services. Married nurses and those who are unable to leave home situations are in a position to fill these vacancies left open by military volunteers.

Miss Unruh said that Pennsylvania leads in the recruiting of Red Cross nurses but urged that every inactive nurse in the district voluntarily offer her services. Contact the American Red Cross, Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter, 511 North Broad st., Philadelphia, for detailed information.

Five New Car Permits Granted

The following have been granted certificates by Rationing Board No. 3 of Montgomery County, for the purchase of new automobiles:

Only $5547.82 Taxes Are Unpaid

Outstanding Amount Is 'Unusually Low' for This Time

Although there are two more months before liens are filed, Narberth's tax duplicate is all but $5547.82 collected, according to a report of Tax Collector John R. Hall.

The duplicate on the property tax is $84,068.32 and against this amount $78,520.50 has been collected including the February receipts.

This, according to the Borough Council, that received the report Monday night, is an "unusually low" amount to have outstanding at this time of year.

Occupational taxes also show a record of prompt payments. The tax duplicate on the occupational tax is $3655.28 and of this amount there is only $930.68 outstanding.

During February the Tax Collector reported that he had received $2007.05 in property taxes and $222.70 in occupational taxes. Penalties on both property and occupational taxes amounted to $20.48.

The Montgomery County Commodity Rationing Board received its first application for a new automobile last week, when Dr. L. F. McAndrews, Bryn Mawr, sought permission to turn in his old car for a new one.

He was the first to ask for one of the 376 cars which have been allotted Montgomery County as its quota of new passenger cars for the three months period of March, April and May.

Dr. James J. Kane, Norristown, has been appointed Treasurer of the Montgomery County Democratic Committee to succeed Earl F. Newton, Pottstown, who resigned as of March 2, according to an announcement today by Democratic County Chairman Raymond K. Mensch.

Newton, who is Inheritance Tax Appraiser for Montgomery County, resigned the treasurership to back Auditor General F. Clair Ross, his immediate superior, in his candidacy for Governor.

George Washington's memory in statuary at Valley Forge Park may be perpetuated by a gift statue to the Commonwealth by an undisclosed donor.

The Valley Forge Park Commission, Executive Secretary Gilbert S. Jones revealed, has authorized the execution of a contract with Gifford MacGregor Proctor of New York and Beloit, Wisconsin, who has designed a unique memorial to the Commander-in-Chief of the patriotic Continental Army which weathered the Winter encampment there in 1777-'78.

Modernization of U. S. Route 202 from the Delaware State Line North of Wilmington to the New Jersey boundary at New Hope by-passing congested industrial areas, was held today to be an urgent military necessity by Second District Assemblyman Charles H. Brunner, Jr., Norristown.

Shortage of workers at Norristown State Hospital is the highest it has ever been, Dr. Arthur P. Noyes, Superintendent, said this week.

There are 160 vacancies in the ward service, he declared, in explaining that the situation was serious.

Male jurors are becoming a curiosity in the Montgomery County Courts. The lists have more and more women on them and it is not unusual to find a majority of women jurors sitting on a case. In one case before Judge Corson this week there were 11 women and one man.

NARBERTH CLINCHES PLAYOFF SPOT; EARLINGTON ELIMINATES YEADON

Outside of Yeadon passing out of the playoff picture, the situation in the Main Line Basketball League stands just about the same as it was a week ago. Inability to cram all of the postponed games into the schedule this week forces an extension of the regular season and keeps the playoff opponents in doubt until Tuesday, at least.

There is still a chance that four teams may finish in a first place tie, a possibility of either a two or three way deadlock for second and the likelihood of two or three teams tying for fourth position.

There will be a doubleheader at Haverford High School Monday night, as usual, but at least one of the pair of opponents is undecided at this writing. Wayne, which was still four games behind the field after Monday's games, will definitely tangle with Clifton Heights in a postponed tilt. The chances are Upper Darby and Berwyn will meet in the other game.

However, should Brookline and Narberth finish in a tie for second place and no one else is in a position to tie them after Thursday's games, then they'll meet in a playoff for the runnersup prize at Haverford Monday night, and one of the other games would be played either at Radnor or Lower Merion.

Earlington Men's Club of Ardmore and Clifton Heights helped scramble the picture by turning in victories over Yeadon, 40-35, and Brookline, 38-28, respectively.

The Earlington victory accounted for Yeadon's 13th defeat and just about eliminated all hope of the Kiwanis team gaining the playoffs. There is still a slim possibility of Yeadon deadlocking with Clifton and Wayne for fourth place. In order to have this happen, Wayne would have to lose three of it four remaining games and Clifton would have to win both its remaining contests. Yeadon, which led the league for half the season, has finished its schedule and can only hope for a miracle to happen.

Earlington completed its season with the victory over Yeadon and the upset served as some consolation for Manager Andy Simpson and his boys for a disappointing year. The Ardmore lads were determined to finish with a victory or die in the attempt and turned in their finest performances of the year. After an even first half which found the teams deadlocked at 17-17, Earlington moved ahead at 26-27 in the third quarter and

Medical Corps Plans Card Party

At last Wednesday's meeting of the Volunteer Medical Service Corps of Narberth, plans were formulated for a benefit card party to be held in the near future.

Guy Mosteller, the drillmaster of the Corps, has left to join the U. S. Marines. Men are urgently needed to be trained as ambulance crews. Corps meetings are held every Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. in Elm Hall, Narberth. Enlistments are accepted then. Applicants do not have to be residents of Narberth, nor must they have had previous first aid training. Women are also needed to be trained to work in the casualty stations.

Corps members are uniformed and are subject to mild discipline. The Corps has the full approval of the following organizations: The Narberth Borough Council, The Narberth Defense Council, the Lower Merion Police Department, and the Narberth Fire Department.

Says Main Line Is Safety Valve For Over Crowded Philadelphia

A warning that industrial production may bog down within a year if the transportation problem of workers is not solved, was made by Roy Helton, director of the Bureau of Research, State Department of Commerce, speaking at a luncheon conference of Republican women at Whitehall, Haverford, Tuesday.

Eight southeastern counties were represented at the regional conference on Industrial Research sponsored by the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, and presided over by Mrs. Charles Seidel, Bryn Mawr, industrial research chairman of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council.

Mrs. Seidel gave a report on a housing survey she has made in Lower Merion Township to determine space available and transportation facilities for defense workers. "The Main Line is the safety valve for over-crowded Philadelphia," she declared.

Mrs. Edna Carroll, vice chairman of the Philadelphia Central Republican Campaign Committee and chairman of the Motion Picture Board of Censors, commended Mrs. Seidel for the pioneer work she has done in Industrial Research.

In Philadelphia, more than half of the census population is at work today, Mr. Helton explained, while in Montgomery County 36% are working and in Delaware 29.2%. A vast feeder population moves into Philadelphia each day from neighboring counties and returns at night.

"We must figure out how to get the men to factories and how to get the small farmer's goods to the market," Mr. Helton declared. "Until this is worked out, we are in a very precarious position."

He predicted that one car would soon have to do for eight families, delivery service will be practically abolished, and we will all have to do without rubber tires, gasoline and oil.

Mrs. Robb Succumbs To Long Illness

Services were held Wednesday night at Stuard's Funeral Home, Ardmore, for Mrs. Ruth Miller Robb, who died Monday at her home, 215 Forrest av., Narberth, after a long illness.

Mrs. Robb, who was a member of the Narberth Presbyterian Church, was an active member of the Woman's Guild and of the Narberth branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Surviving are her husband, Frederick Murray Robb; a son, Frederick, Jr., two daughters, Mrs. J. D. Wynn, of Blairsville, Pa., and Margaret Robb, and three grandchildren.

Burial will be in Huntingdon, Pa.

Pit Vipers

Copperhead, rattlesnake and water moccasin are three snakes in the United States classed as pit vipers.

What's the Answer?

What is the origin of the word "lumber"?

ANSWER: Lumber originally meant something cumbersome to be thrown away as of no practical use. When small amounts of boards and wood were shipped to England from the American colonies—sometimes as mere ballast—the British sailors referred to the bothersome material as "just so much lumber".

Where can you find the lumber dealers in your vicinity?

ANSWER: When you need lumber, millwork or other building materials for that alteration or repair job, you'll find the dealers in your vicinity conveniently listed in the Yellow Pages of your Bell Telephone Directory; as well as Employment Agencies, Florists, Music Dealers, Opticians, and many other services.

You can save time and many steps these busy days if you look in the Yellow Pages when you want to know who sells it or who will do the job.

You'll find it in the YELLOW PAGES!

THE SPECTATOR

Last week's OUR TOWN set forth that a score more of young men from the neighborhood were about to leave for Camp Meade and as this household had made a substantial contribution to that precious cargo it was as it should be when this reporter was on hand for the impressive departure.

The day happened to be the First Friday of March and to some in the contingent that was a church day of special significance. Hence, it came to pass that long before the night had released the dismal dawn there was the opportunity to consecrate formally the patriotic service which the lads were about to offer and that was an auspicious start to what will no doubt prove a great venture of many comforting memories.

Such a spiritual note also served to bring a clearer realization of the high importance of the chaplain's province in the armed forces of a free people, as well as his enviable and extraordinary opportunities for unique aid, reflections that stirred the thought that perhaps it would achieve a good purpose if a more decisive direction were given to the selection of the Army and Navy clerics.

It would be difficult, of course, to marshal the chaplains on a draft basis and neither would it be possible for the military authorities to concern themselves beyond the point they now go, viz: the physical well-being of the volunteer who had been sponsored by his religious superiors.

Nevertheless, a great deal more than a sound body and a mere academic training are needed if a huge host of American young men are to receive the full and permanent benefits of an indispensable religion while they are in the environment of hardship and war; and the transcendent task should induce the sacrifice of the best leadership the Churches can possibly provide, even though the Government, in many instances, might have to make concessions on the score of age and partial disability.

The boys had started to assemble for the leave-taking shortly after 7 o'clock, which meant 6 o'clock a month ago, early enough, and the pouring rain was hardly what one would order for the occasion. It was soon evident, however, that the recruits did not need the sun for stimulus, as they knew they were definitely on their way and an excellent spirit of comradery had already found its roots.

Worthy of note, was the fact (so different from 1917) that very few relatives were on hand to see them go, and that idea may have its points, as young men are apt to wilt at mothers' tears and a good get-off is of real value to the general morale.

It was also said that the officials desired that the kin of the lads should keep away, which, even if true, could be understood; but it can also be understood that this should be one of the things American officials would not presume to rule upon, and there is no sign of any such concession in the large grant of authority which the people have delegated to those in charge of the war effort.

Several of the young men had not arrived when the check-up was made, but the telephone revealed that they were on their way, and at eight minutes before train-time one of them dropped off the bus and said, with a broad grin, that he hoped he had not kept any one waiting.

Marshaled by the two effective young ladies who serve daily at the Forest av. headquarters, and accompanied by Commissioners Downes and Durbin, the corps was trooped to the station for the 8.18 train, to change at 30th st. for Camp Meade and their new careers.

And while the platform was crowded with commuters of many chores awaiting the busiest train of the day, they proved an imperturable throng, as the boys went their way uncheered and unsung; and that, too, was far different than when Narberth sent its quota to the first World War, a quarter-century ago. At that time, the populace at large seemed to concern itself altogether and wholeheartedly with the general issue and not so particularly with anything which resembled the present insistence on saving civilian hides from the remote ravages of an air invasion.

Each month the local Draft Board sends a group of our young men war-ward and perhaps, without being war-whooping, it might help to diffuse a greater sacrificing spirit through the community if some sort of quasi-official body, unmixed in its sincerity, were on hand to strike a note of solidarity as our youth went forward to assume the chief burden of the fierce fray.

Barbed wire and HIDDEN HUNGER

MILLIONS of people are in the brutal concentration camps of Germany today. Many are being intentionally starved through HIDDEN HUNGER—a kind of malnutrition due to lack of vitamins, minerals and other food essentials. The Nazis know that HIDDEN HUNGER drains stamina, morale, courage—qualities that do not fit their "New Order" of slave class and master race.

No conqueror imposes HIDDEN HUNGER upon America. Yet millions of us eat the wrong foods—have HIDDEN HUNGER without knowing it.

To erase HIDDEN HUNGER, our nation's best nutritionists have set up model diets. Every one includes milk—a pint daily for adults—a quart for children. Milk, alone, can't lick HIDDEN HUNGER *but it does a big part of the job.

Get the milk habit the easy way—with Supplee Sealtest Homogenized Vitamin D Milk. It tastes better and is better for babies, children and adults. And it has vitamin D added. Your family is not behind barbed wire with HIDDEN HUNGER. Why have it unthinkingly? Call your Supplee milkman or call BRYN MAWR 881

Should Lower Merion High School's basketball team get past Yeadon in the District One finals of the PIAA tournament it probably will face Gettysburg in the first interdistrict game next Tuesday. This undoubtedly will be played at the Palestra.

Gettysburg is expected to be the surprise representative of District Three for the second straight year. Last season the Bullets appeared in the eliminations for the first time, winning the District Three crown by nosing out William Penn of Harrisburg in an upset. The Bullets in turn were eliminated by Mahanoy City in a one-sided game.

Gettysburg's victory was generally considered an accident, merely the case of a poor team having an off night against an overconfident rival. William Penn was merely the representative of the Central Penn League, having substituted for Reading, the champion, when the latter declined the honor of entering the eliminations. So no one was surprised by Gettysburg's subsequent poor showing in its first game outside its district.

This year it's a different story. Gettysburg has a veteran club, four of its regulars having gained valuable experience in last year's eliminations. And it proved its ability in no uncertain terms by walloping William Penn, 55-42, in its first District Three game.

It Wasn't Any Fluke

No one considers this victory a fluke. William Penn was the bona-fide champion of the Central Penn League, was the only undefeated team in the East and had a winning streak of 21 games under its belt.

Gettysburg holds a victory over Mt. Penn of the Berks County League before retaining its District Three title, but failed to have too much trouble when they met Friday night at Harrisburg.

Most Main Line fans are inclined to consider Gettysburg's victory over William Penn a break for L. M. Most of them feared William Penn more than any team in the East. They recall Gettysburg's miserable showing against Mahanoy City at the Palestra last year and believe the Bullets would be fairly easy prey for the Maroon.

We lean slightly toward this viewpoint but none of us can overlook the fact that Gettysburg is a more experienced and polished club and, from all reports, much smarter. The Bullets didn't know how to go through Mahanoy City's zone defense last year, but went through William Penn's without the slightest hesitation last week. That certainly proves they've learned something.

Gettysburg unquestionably had a severe case of stage fright when it played at the Palestra last year, probably won't be affected nearly so much by the crowd and the large floor this time.

It stands to reason Gettysburg will be itching to attone for last year's poor showing which was actually humiliating. A team with a fair amount of ability can be inspired to great heights by such a purpose and therefore none of us should hold the Bullets too lightly.

It Could Happen

After all this discussion it really would be something should Mt. Penn upset the applecart by eliminating Gettysburg. Mt. Penn first announced it wouldn't compete in the tourney, then suddenly decided to play after all.

This uncertainty of Mt. Penn's intentions was due to actions of the Mt. Penn school board. It announced before the Berks County League playoffs that Mt. Penn would not be permitted to participate in the PIAA tourney. It turned the honor over to Fleetwood and Wernersville, the other divisional winners of the Berks loop, but both declined with thanks.

Last Sunday the students, parents and other followers of the Mt. Penn team held a big protest bonfire and staged a parade to each of the school director's homes where they demanded permission for their team to compete in the tourney.

They presented their case so effectively the directors hurriedly got together at one of the member's homes and late that night announced the rescinding of their resolution barring post-season contests.

How do you think that Mt. Penn team is going to feel when it faces Gettysburg? The fans didn't let the team down. The Mt. Penn team won't want to let the fans down. So a Mt. Penn victory might not be so impossible at that!

Lower Merion Reaches Finals

Defeats Chester, 29-20; To Play Yeadon Friday Night

Lower Merion High's basketeers reached the P. I. A. A. District One final round for the 11th time Tuesday night, scoring a 29-20 triumph over Chester, Section Two titlist, at Penn's Palestra.

More than 5000 spectators turned out as Bill Anderson's Aces throttled an inept Chester quintet. Yeadon, Section Five flag bearer, earned the right to meet Lower Merion this Friday night at the Palestra with a heart-hammering 28-26 victory over Coatesville, thrice Section Three kingpin, in the first game of the double-header.

Lower Merion wasn't overly extended by a touted Chester team, although the game was sloppy and slowed by too-frequent fouling. The Aces moved into a 9-2 lead in the first period and never were headed.

Chester outscored the Ardmore array only in the third quarter, and then by a scant 5-4 margin. For whenever Lower Merion chose to let loose, the Section Two titlists were woefully unable to halt their quick breaks and satin smooth passing.

Phil Harmon, 14-year-old sophomore, opened the scoring with a pivot shot, giving the Aces a 2-0 advantage. Dan Bartkow's rebound shot tied it at 2-2 an instant later, but Don Evans dropped a foul to break the stalemate and thereafter the Merionites gradually opened daylight.

Harry Middleton, one of two holdovers from the 1941 State championship squad, led Lower Merion's offensive with 11 points, racking up four field goals and three fouls. Harmon, who replaced ineligible Bill Koehler, and Evans each collected six points.

Lower Merion advanced at the expense of Sellersville-Perkasie High last Saturday night, triumphing by 52-29 in the opening PIAA district playoffs. Sellersville was Bux-Mont League champion.

Greer Heindel, stocky veteran, was sidelined with a bad ankle against Sell-Perk. But, as the score indicates, he wasn't needed.

Yeadon, next on Lower Merion's list, was fortunate to defeat Coatesville. The Eagles, after taking an 18-6 halftime lead, faltered in the home stretch and almost were overwhelmed by Coatesville's belated lunge.

Only the fact that Yeadon had registered 12 points to none in that prolific second quarter cushioned their advantage against Coatesville's onrush. And, had the game lasted a minute longer, the Coates might well have won.

sewed up the game with a 14-point splurge in the final 10 minutes. Franny Boucher was sensational, caging 17 points.

With Al Herrmann and Bill Wall running wild in the last half, Clifton overcame a 16-9 halftime deficit to hand Brookline its 10th loss and keep the defending champs from clinching second place. It was a close game until the last five minutes when the Brooks' defense just fell to pieces. Herrmann topped the winners with 14 points while John Herring and Lou Mostardi scored nine and eight points, respectively, for the losers.

Narberth rebounded smartly from a 36-32 defeat at the hands of Wayne last Thursday to drub the pacesetting Upper Darby team, 39-24, in the windup of last Monday's bill at Haverford. The victory assured Jaggs Torchiana's proteges of a spot in the playoffs and kept them in the running for a second place tie. With Bob Crowell setting the pace with 13 points, Narberth took a 14-9 lead in the first half and was never seriously threatened.

Wayne was forced to an extra period before defeating Berwyn, 47-38, at Wayne in the other game Monday.

Residents Protest Tap Room Opening On City Line av.

A delegation of residents living in the vicinity of 54th st. and City Line av. are planning to attend a hearing of the State Liquor Control Board at which the application of Clayton White to obtain a liquor license will be heard.

The hearing will be at 250 S. 15th st. on March 16 at 4:30 p.m.

White plans to open a restaurant and bar on the City Line av. side of Lower Merion Township near the 54th st. intersection.

A petition bearing approximately 50 signatures of residents was sent to the State board in December objecting to the proposed tap room.

Mrs. H. Power Weymann, Oakland Terrace, heads the group of protesting residents who claim the tap room would be objectionable in a community of homes.
